HOUSE CROWDED FOR ST. PATRICK'S PLAYERS' DEBUT

"Pathe Revue of 1921" Greeted With Generous Applause. Fifty in Cast.

Fifty members of the newly organized St. Patrick's players pitterattered their way into a generous helping of applause last night when their first performance-the "Patter Revue of 1921"-bloomed before the footlights of Carroll Hall, 924 is street northwest.

The efforts of Rev. F. J. Hurney, who is responsible for the company, to give Washington a permanent dramatic and musical organization. which may act as a vehicle for the preduction of new vaudeville acts and up-to-date revues were well re-warded. This, his first offering, was and up-to-date re-warded. This, his first offering, was greeted by a crowded house.

Among the principals in the mu-sical comedy were Edna Hillyard Howard, soprano soloist of St. Pat-rick's Church: Miss Dorothy Gowen, daughter of Col. James B. Gowen, U. S. A., and a recent debutante: Miss Katherine Stouffer, a well-shown Washington girl, who ap-peared with Royal Foster in a so-lety dancing number: Miss Elizabeth Bogan as the gypsy queen: Miss Peggy O'Dear, Miss Ethel Williams, and the little Lyons children.

Christian Endeavor Celebration Today

Practically 5,000,000 members of the Christian Endeavor Society throughout the country will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the society's founding today. At the First Presbyterian Church, John Marshall place, a pageant, "The Four Decades of Christian En-Four Decades of Christian En-deavor." will be staged and eighty local societies are expected to be represented. A composite choir of nearly every Protestant church in Washington will furnish the music. The pageant is the pivot of the celebration, which has continued since last Sunday, and will close with special services next Sunday Return to a peace basis for the American Red Cross was authorized yesterday by the central committee which ordered discontinuance of the Carroll M.
